BREEDING DIRECTIONS:

Showjumping & Eventing

3-DAY PERFORMANCE TEST OBSERVATIONS: Nice blood type with a correct conformation. He has a nice front and a well-muscled neck that is a bit vertical. Good stance of forelegs. The stance of the hindlegs is a bit straight. The feet are narrow. Quality of limbs is lean. The walk is sufficient with a sufficient length of stride. The trot is balanced, carrying, and elastic. The canter has sufficient length of stride, is well-balanced, and has impulsion. He jumps carefully with a quick takeoff. The foreleg and hindleg technique are both good. He has very good reflexes, good scope, and is careful. The stallion has very good potential for a dual sport and breeding career. He has a lot of blood in his body and athleticism, and he should suit a wide variety of mares. For showjumping and eventing breeding, the mare should bring good rideability. The showjumping breeding, the stallion is expected to bring blood, a willingness to work, and a lighter frame to his progeny along with three good basic gaits. For eventing breeding, the stallion could produce 4* and 5* eventers when combined with a distance-bred Thoroughbred or true half-bred mare with endurance and ability to produce a sustained gallop.

*Interior: character/temperament + willingness to work, equally weighted
